Re: REVOCATION of so-called "frivolous" tax return filings

BY _____ DEPT. CLERK

Copy sent to:

United States District Court
900 Georgia Ave.
Chattanooga, TN 37402

Dear Internal Revenue Service:

Please NOTICE that it was never my intention to file any "frivolous" tax returns. After a CPA whom I had hired to prepare my tax returns failed to do the job correctly, I made every possible effort to educate myself about the tax laws and to understand the Internal Revenue Code.

I did this for the purpose of being able to lawfully comply with any tax laws which may apply to my person. It is now, and always has been, my intent to handle only lawful money of the United States. I have publicized my DEMAND for lawful money pursuant to, but absent benefit of, U.S.C. 12, Chapter 3, Subchapter XII, section 411 at the above referenced United States District Court.

Since the IRS has considered certain of my past tax return filings "frivolous", as evidenced by correspondence from the agency regarding tax years 2007 and 2008, which I refused for cause in a timely manner, I hereby REVOKE all tax return filings for 2007 and 2008 which the IRS considers "frivolous".

Please update all your files accordingly.

Notice to agent is notice to principal, and notice to principal is notice to agent.

Sincerely,

Rene Jean for RENE J SAUZEDDE account # 036-32-4771
